Question of the Week
“Why do people say “Here Goes Nothing?”

CSA News

Ask Pam

Brain Teaser
“Why do people say “Here goes nothing?”

Derrick Gold
“They usually say this when I walk by, don’t ask me why.”

Dion Turgeon
“Because they have nothing to lose.”

Rich Stangle
“Because nothing is already gone so you’ve got to go with something and nothing is something when there already is nothing, so here goes nothing. Get it? Good. Next question.”

It is Time For a Spaghetti Supper!

SIFE Does It Again
The University of Minnesota-Crookston Students In Free Enterprise team has yet another reason to celebrate. On Saturday, November 12, 2005 at the “Duel on the River” competition in St. Cloud, Minnesota, the UMC SIFE team won the third place trophy and $1,500 in prize money. The “Duel on the River” is a regional competition where several teams compete for cash prizes by analyzing a personal finance case. Teams work approximately 36 hours straight preparing their case. They then present findings and recommendations to a panel of judges. The winning team and host team of each regional competition advance to the University of Arizona “Duel in the Desert” national competition held March 2-5, 2006 in Las Vegas, Nevada. The team’s third place showing is even more remarkable since no team member had ever competed at a Duel event before. The details of the case were highly secretive, and turned out to be a case of identity theft involving a St. Cloud couple. The team exhibited a tremendous amount of creativity which included meeting with a local real estate agent to determine the market value of the house in question, meeting with a Wells Fargo representative and conducting a conference call with the Village Family Service Center of Fargo, North Dakota. The UMC SIFE students who won third place were Tiffany Anderson, SIFE Co-President, Sylvia Fitzsimmons, Justin Petrich, and Vonna Tweed. Dave Crawford and Kenneth Johnson, SIFE advisors, were present as well. Although Dave and Kenneth helped the team prepare prior to the competition, once teams received the case all advisors were prohibited from talking to their team members. As such, this fantastic showing is further proof of the great students who volunteer their time to make UMC SIFE such an astounding success.

Ask Pam
Dear Pam,
Several students have voiced their concern regarding their unsatisfactory chocolate levels. They feel a bowl, or other container of some sort should be full of delicious chocolate candy at all time on the info desk. Thank you. Jordon
Jordan, I deeply appreciate the concern that you have about this terrible situation with the lack of chocolate at the Information desk. I agree this is a travesty. I have contacted Willy Wonka to see if he might be able to donate this to us as buying it would cause your student fee to increase to offset this additional expense. I will let you know when he contacts me.

Pay It Forward Tour an Alternative Spring Break

The Pay It Forward Tour is a spring break community service experience designed for college students. The Tour consists of students traveling by motor coach to Washington, DC and serving in 5 communities along the way. In March of 2006, 10 buses will travel the nation, 47 communities will be served, and 400 lives will be changed. Eight of these buses will meet in our nation’s capital where together we will serve, learn, grow, and celebrate the positive change we made in the world. For more information contact Lisa Samuelson at Samue026@umn.edu or Pamela Holsinger-Fuchs at holsing@umn.edu.
Nominations Being Sought for Faculty Awards

RE: Faculty Awards: Morse-Alumni Award, Tate Advising Award, and Distinguished Teaching Award Nominations

Faculty Award Nominations due December 2
The UMC Faculty Awards Committee is seeking nominations for the following University of Minnesota Awards:

Horace T. Morse - University of Minnesota Alumni Award recognizes outstanding contributions to teaching. Winners of this award will receive a $3,000 continuous augmentation to their annual salary throughout their career at the University of Minnesota. In addition, each recipient’s department will receive $1,500 annually for each of five years to be used by the recipient for professional development or research. The title “Distinguished University Teaching Professor” is also conferred upon all recipients.

Minimum Eligibility requirements: Regular faculty (tenure-track & tenured) and term faculty (non-regular) salaried through the University and holding a 66 2/3% time or greater appointment, who have been at the University for at least 5 years, including current year. Previous nominees who did not receive the award may be nominated. Morse-Alumni Award information can be found at http://academic.umn.edu/provost/awards/aocce.html

John Tate Award for Excellence in Undergraduate Advising winners receive $1,500. The recipient may choose to have the $1,500 allocated through their bi-weekly pay or transferred to their department to use for professional development purposes.

Minimum Eligibility requirements: University employees holding at least 75% time appointments, who actively participate in academic advising (directly or administratively). Up to two awards will be given to those whose primary responsibilities include advising and up to two awards to faculty members. For the purpose of this award, academic advising is defined as non-classroom contacts with individuals or small groups that help students. Tate Advising Award information can be found at http://academic.umn.edu/provost/tate/forms.html

The Distinguished Teaching Award - University of Minnesota, Crookston to recognize those members of the faculty who have made significant contributions to teaching at UMC. One cash award of $500 will be presented to a faculty member winner along with an individual plaque. The recipient’s name will also be added to the plaque located in the Sahlstrom Conference Center honoring all previous recipients.

Minimum Eligibility requirements: All full time UMC faculty engaged in a minimum of 50% time teaching at UMC and have completed 3 or more years prior to the nomination. Distinguished Teaching Award information can be found at http://www.umcrookston.edu/newsevents/awards/distinguishedteaching.htm

Horace T. Morse and John Tate Awards are University of Minnesota System awards and are highly competitive. The Distinguished Teaching Award is specific to faculty on the University of Minnesota, Crookston campus.

Timelines: Award nominations are due to the UMC Faculty Awards Committee by December 2, 2005. Nominees will be invited to submit full applications by December 31. The Faculty Awards Committee will review nominees and selected finalists in early January. Finalists must submit their complete nomination files to Barbara Cournia by January 18 for assembly, duplication and final preparation. Final submissions for the Morse and Tate awards are due in the Twin Cities by January 26, 2006.

Suggestions for nominees may be made by individual students and faculty members, departments and other administrative units, alumni, clubs or organizations. There are no nomination forms. Individuals or organizations interested in nominating a candidate should inform nominees that their names are being proposed to the UMC Faculty Awards Committee for consideration and that nominees must provide current Curriculum Vitae and 3 letters of reference. Names can be sent confidentially to: Barbara Cournia, 307 Selvig Hall, by Thursday, December 1, 2005 at 4:30 p.m.

Should you have any questions, please contact me.
—John Loegering, Chair, UMC Faculty Awards Committee
Brain Teasers

Bobbi Mikl is last week’s winner. Bobbi knew that the puzzle below on the left meant “Camping over night.” Bobbi can pick up her free movie pass from Meloni in 236 Student Center. Can you guess this week’s puzzle (below on the right)? If you think you know the answer, send an e-mail to melonir. A winner will be chosen from the correct answers. The winner will receive a free ticket to the Grand Theatre in Crookston. Email your answer to Meloni prior to noon on Thursday, November 17. The winner’s name will appear in the November 21 Eagle’s Eye.

Self Defense Course Offered Tuesday, November 29
