UMC Campus Garden Party: 2nd Supper on Feb. 6 a great success

The second Garden Party Supper in a series of discussions about local foods and gardening was scheduled on Thursday, February 6, 2014, in Bede Ballroom. Guest speaker, Dr. Randel Hanson, an environment scientist and garden project leader based in Duluth Campus, started with a very intriguing presentation. The presentation was about the history of food system revolution in Duluth region since 1800s, system thinking and dynamics of flow. Dr. Hanson also talked about story of origin of the successful 10 acre garden in Duluth campus, how they struggled over the years to make the garden happen, the challenges they faced, their current status and future goals. This was a very inspirational presentation not only for the faculty, staff, and the community but also for the students who attended the dinner.

The Crookston campus has been exploring the concept of a campus garden since 2011, but a sustained effort is lacking. Student and community involvement is the most important out of many. We need an action plan patterned after successful initiatives in operation at other campus and community settings. The action plan would identify financial, personnel, and equipment resources; and benefits to the campus and community. The “Garden Party Supper” series is a good way to integrate all the ideas from students, faculties, staffs, and community people.

The programs are supported by a Mini-grant from the U of MN’s Institute on the Environment to UMC’s Center for Sustainability and are free and open to all interested in the topic. The next program date is not scheduled yet but our guest speaker will be Shannon Stassen and Kirsten Fagerlund and the focus will be on the role of community.

These programs are complementary to the “Local Foods College” sponsored by Extension beginning on Tuesday, Jan. 21. For more information, contact Tashi Gurung at 218-281-8128 gurun011@crk.umn.edu. Brain Teasers

A REBUS is a picture representation of a name, work, or phrase. Each “rebus” puzzle box portrays a common word or phrase. Can you guess what it is? Example:

Answer for Head HEELS: Since the word HEAD is over the word HEELS, the answer to the puzzle would be HEAD OVER HEELS!

Answer for Corporate: Because the word Corporate is getting smaller, the answer to the puzzle would be Corporate Downsizing!

Last week’s winner is Missy Geiszler. The correct answer was “Head for Cover” Emily can pick up her FREE movie pass from Meloni in 236 Sargeant Student Center. If you think you know the answer to this week’s Rebus, send an e-mail to meloni (melonir@umn.edu). A winner will be chosen from the correct answers. The winner will receive a free ticket to the Grand Theatre in Crookston. Email your answer to Meloni prior to noon on Thursday, February 13, 2014. The winner’s name will appear in the February 17, 2014 Eagle’s Eye.
